Pablo Javier Gutierrez, software developer

It is difficult to condense 20+ years of experience, but would like to tell you that I have been in many roles within the IT, all software development related: from developer to Agile Lead.

I am a multi-purpose professional since I've mastered software and hardware issues, as well as team management, requirements, development, maintaining, but over all, I can bring experience, maturity, and good judgment in addition to experience in many industries.

I have provided development and consultancy services, worked in mid-ranged, multinational companies and start ups. 10+ years leading software development teams in both technical & support, delivering projects. I've made portfolio management, strategic planning; HR Management and IT governance. I've worked in multicultural environments and partial to fully remote.

My work is MVP oriented, applying different methodologies (such as Agile, Scrum or CMMI). I have a strong IT and Business background; based on my experience and education.

Thanks for your time.
